NJ REAL ESTATE PROFESSIONAL QUALIFIES AS EDUCATOR IN TEXAS

(EDUCATOR IN TEXAS)

KENILWORTH, N.J.: (February 2, 2006)---Andrew B. Zezas, SIOR, President of Real Estate Strategies Corporation announced today that he has qualified as a real estate educator for the State of Texas. The Texas Real Estate Commission (TREC) has certified Mr. Zezas to teach real estate related classes in the state for the next five years.

The certification came after Mr. Zezas was chosen by the Society of Industrial and Office Realtors (SIOR), the leading professional commercial and industrial real estate association in the US, to lead a course on providing tenant representation services at the Society's national convention held in Boca Raton, Florida, last April. To qualify to lead the course, which counts as continuing education credits for real estate brokers who attended, Mr. Zezas had to be approved by 40 states across the country. The TREC took the approval one step further and certified Mr. Zezas as a fully licensed real estate instructor for the state.

"I'm honored by the certification," said Mr. Zezas. He continued, "Assisting my fellow professionals in achieving higher levels of proficiency and eventually greater success is very exciting."
